President Dorman's Charge

TENURE AND PROMOTION

a. Tenure and promotion is a solemn responsibility and decision at the university. And because of the provost's leadership to provide a 9% increase for promotion, it now has come to have financial implications as well.

b. However, it has become clear to me that we need to conduct a university-wide review of our tenure and promotion policies and practices. I am, therefore, charging the provost to assemble a committee representative of the university to review our tenure and promotion policies and practices. This review should include conversations with faculty throughout the university regarding tenure and promotion practices and policies. I would ask specifically that the committee:

- i. review the viability of a university-level tenure and promotion committee which would guide the decisions of the provost and president after the dean's assessment.
