

Home / Center for Teaching and Learning

GC SoTL Fellows

Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) Mini-Grants and Workshop Series

Have you developed or applied a new approach to your teaching? Have you been collecting assessment data relative to your students beyond grades? Do you have a potential research project related to teaching and learning but are not sure how to get started? The Center for Faculty Development offers an annual workshop series on the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL). Two faculty from each college are nominated by Deans/Chairs to participate in the workshops.

Each workshop participant can receive up to $500 in registration/travel support for any conference presentation that emerges from his/her SoTL project. Participants receive a copy of Engaging in the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning: A Guide to the Process and How to Develop a Project from Start to Finish, by Cathy Bishop-Clark and Beth Dietz-Uhler.

Workshop Outcomes +

2018-2019 Fellows +

Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) Resources +

- Center for Teaching and Learning
- Overview
- About Us
- Awards, Grants & Funding
- Active Learning
- Distance Education
- Inclusive Excellence
- Learning Technologies
- Mentoring & Learning Communities
- Mentored Undergraduate Research and Creative Endeavors (MURACE)
- Professional Development & Certification